Transition Coal.

Transition Coal.

This rare and valuable Coal is a variety not quite changed into an anthracite, and it has only been discovered (in large quantities) at three places apon our globe, viz: at South Wales, Great Britain; at Bousts, in Russia, near the Black Sea; and at Pauphin end Lebamon counties. Pennsylvania. In the London market this coal commands the highest price. It is now mined upon the large estate (45,000 across) of the Dambin and Susquehanna Coal Company, situated in Pennsylvania, and it is nearer to the cities of Baltimore and Washington than the coal of any other region. For easy significand, durability of fire, complete combustion, easy adaptation to the temperature of the weather, and its great power in generating heat, it is the meat coal in the world. It has the inflammability of the bituminous coal, with the cleanliness of the anthracite, and a greater durability than either. It burns without making any soot or visible smoke, and the combustion is so complete that it retains the fire until all the coal to consumed. Not so with the anthracites, especially the hard and heavy kinds. They do not burn up, and hence the common troublesome practice of sifting their ashes to obtain more fuel. In burning the Transition Coal there is no waste, for the small coals made by handling, burn as well as ordinary coal. All should be taken out.

A very arroneous impression exists with many persons having together. If ecrowed at all the dust only should be taken out.

A very erroneous impression exists with many persons that the heatest coals are the most economical for ordinary purposes. This might be the case if coals were sold by measurement, but never when they are sold by measurement, but never when they are sold by weight. In Taylor's valuable work, (Statistics of Coal) the details are given to show that 31 pounds of a free-burning red ash yielded more heat to a room in 15 hours, than 37 pounds of a heavy white ash coal, making the red ash, at $5.50, to be more economical than the white ash at $4.61 per ton. Any person accustomed to use these heavy coals will be attentished at the saving which can be made in burning the lighter kinds, when tested by the weight and burnt in a suitable manner.

ished at the saving when can be made in burning the ignier kinds, when tested by the weight and burnt in a suitable manner.

An apprehension exists with some that the free-burning coals have a tendency to clinker. Now, as a general rule, no coal will clinker unless a greater draught be applied to it than the coal naturally requires. No one would think of applying a bellows constantly to a fire made of seasoned hickory or oak wood, and it would be equally as absurd to apply a blast constantly to a free-burning coal. But the heavy white ash anthracites cannot be burnt without a powerful draft, and without using a larger quantity of coal than the temperature of the weather sometimes requires. Various patterms of stores, furnaces, cooking ranges, &c., are invented annually to conquer this difficulty, but it has never been done with complete success. In every contrivance, however, which has been invented to burn coal, the transition varicity will make a beautiful fire, and no complaint will ever be made to a manufacturer or seller of grates or stores when this coal is used. The draft alone is to be regulated by a damper. In introducing this new coal for the first time, prepared as it now is by steam power machinery for dometic use, it may give greater confidence to the buyer to say that the celebrated free-burning red ash veins in the Peach Orchard district, near Pottsville, ore a continuation of the Dauphin veins, and they approach the nearest in white to the Transition coal.

Shipments of the Transition coal have already been made to the District of Columbia, and it can be obtained at retail from the following persons:

Wm. T. Dove, Washington.

Woodford Stons, Washington.

F. Magrader,
do Myers & Baker, Georgelown.

Wm. T. Bove, washington.

F. Magruder, do Myers & Baker, Georgetown.

Orders for this coel by the cargo, as well as for the sensitiuminous and anthracite coals, mined by the Dauphin and Susquehanna Coal Cempany, will be promptly executed by ADAMS FOSTER, Agent,

Office southwest corner Baltimore and South ets.

MUSILEY AND HIS COADUTTORS.

WESLEY AND HIS COADJUTORS. WESLEY AND HIS COADJUTORS.

SLIDOM have I taken up a book of biography with which I have been so well pleased and really profited as with Wesley and his Coadjutors, by Prof. Larrabee. Those pure pages sparkle like diamonds, with strange as well as beautiful incidents, touching in turn every chord of the human heart, and arousing its latent energies to dead of noble daring. Wesley is exhibited as he really was, a most wonderful man; wenderful principally as an agent of Providence in revising pure religion in the world. The second volume opens with Charles

The second volume orens with Charles Weeley, that prince of lyric poets, who is made to pass before the reader so well defined that he seems to see his form and hear his voice, and be thrilled with his sublime hymns, a rich legacy left to the Church in all effer time.

Whitefield, the pearless orator and devoted Christian, next appears, with his matchless powers, erousing Great Fritain and America with an eloquence and unction that literally bore down all before it, turning the people to God by thousands, till from the most degraded—degraded because forsaltan of their religious teachers—plants of right-coussess were seen springing up and adorning the garden of the Lord. John Fletcher closes the list of notable worthies in the two volumes before us, and every way worthy is he to do it. He is made to pass along in his own incomparable, beautiful simplicity, with a holiness all but superhumsn, possessing talents that an angel might have entied; the acutest and ablest controversalist writer of his own or any subsequent age.—Zion's Herald.
